

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Greenhouse Studios partners with Certified Marketing Firm, Egami Consulting Group, Inc.

Burbank, California – April 19, 2011 – Greenhouse Studios is now an official production studio supplier and strategic partner for Egami Consulting Group, Inc., N.Y.

New York-based Egami Consulting Group is an award-winning marketing firm known for promoting dynamic “brand experiences” that cater to the modern, urban consumer. Their most recent move to further advance this initiative is a partnership with boutique production house, Greenhouse Studios.

Greenhouse Studios will be offering all production and post-production services to aid in Egami's future marketing campaigns. Founded in Burbank in 2008 as a combined production and post-production house, Greenhouse Studios meets the needs of both independent filmmakers and high-end clients. Their goal is to provide economical yet quality services in digital media creation and distribution. This includes assisting in the production and delivery of feature films, TV programs, documentaries, and music productions.

To combine Greenhouse's resources and production outlets with Egami's unique marketing strategies will yield exciting results. The two companies share an interest in promoting multicultural appeal in the media they produce. With a fresh approach to media that aims to creatively develop brand identity, this new partnership is poised to connect with and inspire urban consumers across the country.
